

DO YOU LOVE URBAN FARMING?

- WE ARE RECRUITING PART-TIME BILINGUAL URBAN FARMING TRAINERS

REQUIREMENTS

To ensure effective engagement in the Train-the-Trainer initiative, participants must have a good command of English and one of the native languages highlighted below:

- Bhutanese • Dari • Spanish
- Pashto • Russian • Arabic
- Haitian Creole

Successful candidates will receive training on working with adult learners, immigrants and risk management agricultural practices. Once trained, candidates will train and support groups of potential farmers in an 18-month grant.

APPLY NOW

<https://forms.gle/MKPazhv7Mc3prZ6w9>

Contact Dr. Emily Holmes:

emily.holmes@crossovercd.org

Scan the QR code

This position is supported by the Risk Management Education Partnership, project award no. RMA24CPT0013922, from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Risk Management Agency. Any opinions, findings, conclusions, or recommendations expressed in this flyer are those of the author(s) and should not be construed to represent any official USDA or U.S. Government determination or policy.